INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The strategy consists of selecting companies with the best ESG scores, based on ESG ratings provided by MSCI ESG Research, among companies in the European Union, the United Kingdom, Switzerland and Norway with a market capitalisation above EUR 100 million. Stocks trading below their intrinsic value and benefiting from one or more catalysts likely to reduce this discount are then selected.

(1) The summary risk indicator (SRI) is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the market or because we are not able to pay you. It ranges from 1 (low risk) to 7 (high risk). This indicator is not constant and will change according to the fund's risk profile. The lowest category does not mean risk-free. Historical data, such as that used to calculate the SRI, may not be a reliable indication of the fund's future risk profile. There is no guarantee that the investment objectives in terms of risk will be achieved.

MONTHLY MANAGEMENT COMMENT

European equities continued to rebound in May, buoyed by progress made in negotiations between the US and Iran towards a lasting peace agreement, with said progress driving down the price of a barrel of oil by almost 20% over the month. Combined with investor enthusiasm for artificial intelligence and generally reassuring messages from business leaders despite lingering uncertainties, this environment has reignited investors' risk appetite. In terms of sectors, the best performers were consumer discretionary, basic materials and banks, while energy and utilities underperformed.

The portfolio outperformed its benchmark over the month thanks to allocation and stock-picking effects. At sector level, the sub-fund's underweight in energy and utilities and its overweight in consumer discretionary contributed positively to performance. In terms of stocks, the portfolio's performance was underpinned by strong gains for STMicroelectronics and Jenoptik in the semiconductor sector, as well as Anglo American and Aperam in the basic materials sector.

Over the month, we took profits on STMicroelectronics, Jenoptik, Anglo American, Aperam and UBS while strengthening our positions in Nestlé, Kering, Daimler Truck and Bayer. We also reduced our exposure to Allianz and increased our exposure to a different German reinsurer in the form of Munich Re, as the latter offers greater upside potential.
