INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The management strategy implemented is a discretionary investment strategy based on a stock-picking approach and a rigorous methodology for selecting European growth stocks. It favors companies whose earnings growth exceeds the average market growth, and ensures that these high-growth stocks are not purchased at excessive prices ("Growth at Reasonable Price").

(1) The summary risk indicator (SRI) is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the market or because we are not able to pay you. It ranges from 1 (low risk) to 7 (high risk). This indicator is not constant and will change according to the fund's risk profile. The lowest category does not mean risk-free. Historical data, such as that used to calculate the SRI, may not be a reliable indication of the fund's future risk profile. There is no guarantee that the investment objectives in terms of risk will be achieved.

(2) Information on the EU Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation (SFDR) can be found in the SFDR classification(2) section of the document.

SUSTAINABLE REPORT – METHODOLOGY

ODDO BHF AM considers that measuring the environmental, social and governance impact of an investment is an essential step in disseminating good practices in ESG integration. To do this, it is imperative to have reliable, simple quantitative criteria (no reprocessing) and to allow comparison between portfolios regardless of their composition (large vs midcaps, geographical and sectoral diversity).

The choice of indicators is therefore crucial for the relevance of impact measurement. The data for the environmental indicators come from our external non-financial analysis provider, MSCI. We systematically indicate the availability of the data at the level of the portfolio and its benchmark.

Carbon metrics methodology: We updated our methodology of carbon intensity calculation. Starting January 31st, 2023, when reported carbon values are unavailable or inconsistent, estimated carbon values are used. The estimations are based on average carbon value (scope 1+2 emissions) of sectoral peers as a function of revenues

MONTHLY MANAGEMENT COMMENT

Of the securities representing over 1% of the portfolio, the strongest performances came from Artech (Spain, industrials), AUTO1 (Germany, consumer goods) and SUSS MicroTec (Germany, technology). Conversely, the worst performers were Drax (UK, utilities), Técnicas Reunidas (Spain, energy) and Ashtead Technology (UK, industrials).

This month, we take a look at the Spanish family-owned group Artech, which specialises in the design and production of electrical equipment. The group specialises in particular in high-, medium- and low-voltage transformers, sectors in which it offers measurement and control solutions to ensure that the energy generated is correctly channelled to the end user. The group was founded 75 years ago and now has 13 production and R&D sites, operates in 175 countries and employs nearly 3,000 people. The group has experienced strong growth in recent years (with sales up by more than 25% over two years and EBITDA almost doubling), driven by growing investment needs concerning electricity generation and distribution, a trend that the current energy crisis is only reinforcing. By the end of 2025, order intake had reached nearly EUR 600 million, up 16% year-on-year, and Artech announced a sales target of between EUR 555 million and EUR 585 million (representing growth of between 9% and 15%) for an EBITDA margin of 15.8% to 16.3% (15.8% in 2025).

Against this backdrop, the group decided to implement a significant investment programme across several of its sites. This applies in particular to Mexico, which mainly supplies North American markets with contactors (essential for operating highly inductive currents, such as motors, fans, compressors and cooling systems) and whose production capacity could increase by 40% in the long term. China, which serves the Australian market in particular, will also benefit from increased capacity of over 30%, while the Bilbao site will also benefit from better-than-expected demand in the European market. It is worth noting that the group currently has very little debt (gearing of 0.3x at the end of 2025), meaning these investments will not adversely affect its financial situation. Finally, the group hopes to be able to carry out growth operations, particularly in the US, which could be partly financed by a capital increase. Artech would thus benefit from the sharp rise in its valuation multiples over the last 18 months, while at the same time having the opportunity to increase its free float – one of the stock's few weaknesses.

RISKS:

The fund is exposed to the following risks: risk of capital loss, equity risk, interest rate risk, credit risk, risk associated with discretionary management, risk associated with commitments on forward financial instruments, counterparty risk, liquidity risk of underlying assets, risk associated with holding small and medium capitalisations, risks associated with securities financing transactions and collateral management, Sustainability risk and on an ancillary basis currency risk, emerging markets risk

SFDR CLASSIFICATION²

The EU Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation (SFDR) is a set of EU rules which aim to make the sustainability profile of funds transparent, more comparable and better understood by end investors. Article 6: The management team does not consider sustainability risks or adverse effects of investment decisions on sustainability factors in the investment decision making process. Article 8: The management team addresses sustainability risks by integrating ESG criteria (Environment and/or Social and/or Governance) into its investment decision making process. Article 9: The management team follows a strict sustainable investment objective that significantly contributes to the challenges of the ecological transition, and addresses Sustainability Risks through ratings provided by the Management Company's external ESG data provider.
