(1) The summary risk indicator (SRI) is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the market or because we are not able to pay you. It ranges from 1 (low risk) to 7 (high risk). This indicator is not constant and will change according to the fund's risk profile. The lowest category does not mean risk-free. Historical data, such as that used to calculate the SRI, may not be a reliable indication of the fund's future risk profile. There is no guarantee that the investment objectives in terms of risk will be achieved.

SUSTAINABLE REPORT – METHODOLOGY

ODDO BHF AM considers that measuring the environmental, social and governance impact of an investment is an essential step in disseminating good practices in ESG integration. To do this, it is imperative to have reliable, simple quantitative criteria (no reprocessing) and to allow comparison between portfolios regardless of their composition (large vs midcaps, geographical and sectoral diversity).

The choice of indicators is therefore crucial for the relevance of impact measurement. The data for the environmental indicators come from our external non-financial analysis provider, MSCI. We systematically indicate the availability of the data at the level of the portfolio and its benchmark.

Carbon metrics methodology: We updated our methodology of carbon intensity calculation. Starting January 31st, 2023, when reported carbon values are unavailable or inconsistent, estimated carbon values are used. The estimations are based on average carbon value (scope 1+2 emissions) of sectoral peers as a function of revenues

MONTHLY MANAGEMENT COMMENT

Geopolitical developments shaped market trends in March. Euro Zone equity markets fell by more than 9% following the joint attack on Iran by the United States and Israel and Iran's subsequent closure of the Strait of Hormuz in retaliation. Given that the strait accounts for 20% of global oil flows and 25% of global gas flows, the macroeconomic outlook has darkened, with a possible slowdown in the global economy accompanied by a resurgence in inflation linked to the energy supply shock. All asset classes fell, with the exception of oil and the dollar, which regained its status as a safe-haven asset against this backdrop. The uncertainty has been further exacerbated by the lack of clarity regarding the actual objectives of the conflict and by President Trump's contradictory statements. The only sector in the black this month is, of course, the energy sector, up 9%, followed by the defensive sectors of telecommunications and utilities, as well as basic materials. It was the cyclical chemical sector that drove this growth, as it has benefited from the supply difficulties faced by its Asian competitors, who are extremely reliant on refined products and are therefore no longer able to flood the European market with their excess capacity. The industrials and consumer goods sectors plummeted with double-digit falls.

Oddo BHF Génération underperformed its benchmark over the month. The top contributors were Wacker Chemie (chemicals, Germany), UCB (health care, Belgium), Ericsson (technology, Sweden), Besi (semiconductors, Netherlands), Dassault Aviation (defence, France), Nexans (cables, France), Publicis (advertising agency, France) and GEKTerna (concessions, Greece). At the other end of the spectrum, the fund suffered from the poor performance of Salzgitter (steel, Austria), Beiersdorf (cosmetics, Germany), Aperam (stainless steel, Luxembourg), De Longhi (consumer goods, Italy), Hermès (luxury goods, France), Jungheinrich (logistics, Germany), Continental (tyres, Germany), SPIE (services, France), Técnicas Reunidas (oil services, Spain), Merck (health care, Germany) and Carlsberg (beer, Denmark).

In terms of portfolio changes, we scaled back our positions in Beiersdorf (cosmetics, Germany), ASM International (semiconductors, Netherlands), Richemont (luxury goods, Switzerland), LVMH (luxury goods, France), L'Oréal (cosmetics, France), SAP (software, Germany) and Jungheinrich (logistics, Germany), to strengthen our investments in Grenergy (utilities, Spain), Exail Technologies (defence, France) and AB InBev (beer, Belgium).

We are keeping the portfolio's overall ESG rating above that of the reference universe.

RISKS:

The fund is exposed to the following risks: risk of capital loss, equity risk, interest rate risk, credit risk, risk associated with discretionary management, currency risk, risk associated with commitments on forward financial instruments, counterparty risk, risk associated with holding small and medium capitalisations, risks associated with securities financing transactions and collateral management, Sustainability risk and on an ancillary basis emerging markets risk

SFDR CLASSIFICATION²
