The Yield to Maturity (YTM) is the estimation at a certain date of the expected rate of return of a bond portfolio if the securities are held to maturity. It does by no means constitute a promised return. It can, therefore, be affected by interest rate risks, default risks, reinvestment risks and the fact that bonds may not be held until maturity.

The Yield to worst (YTW) is the estimation at a certain date of the worst expected rate of return of a bond portfolio of which some of the securities would not be held until maturity but redeemed at the discretion of the issuer (call). It does by no means constitute a promised return. It can, therefore, be affected by interest rate risks, default risks, reinvestment risks and the fact that bonds may not be held until maturity.

Futures and options are not included in the calculation of the yield. The Yield to Maturity is calculated before currency hedging. The Yield to Worst is calculated after currency hedging.

The performance shown is that of the "Oddo Credit Opportunities" (launched on 13 December 2013) which was absorbed by the "Oddo BHF Credit Opportunities" (a sub-fund of Oddo BHF, a SICAV established under Luxembourg law) effective from 10 September 2018. The "Oddo BHF Credit Opportunities" pursues exactly the same investment strategy and the same investment objective as the "Oddo Credit Opportunities". The fund management team and the fee structure also remain unchanged.

(1) Risk/return scale in a range from 1 (lowest risk) to 7 (highest risk). This indicator is not constant and is updated if the risk/reward profile of the fund changes over time. The lowest category does not mean a risk-free investment. Historical data, such as is used to calculate the risk/return ratio, may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of the Fund. There is no guarantee that the management objectives in terms of risk and return will actually be met.

Portfolio manager comment

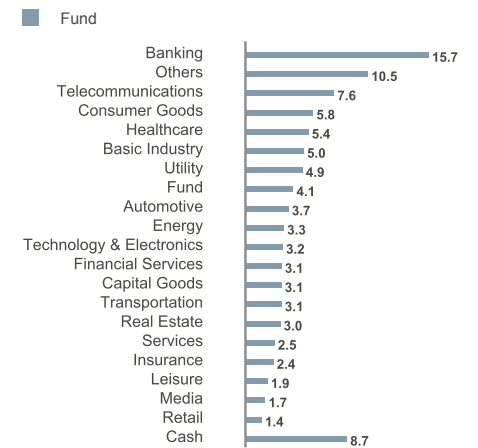

Credit markets recovered in October as weak macroeconomic data were offset by further monetary stimulus going forward. The Euro area manufacturing PMI fell 1.3-points to 45.7 which was the eighth successive month of decline in activity. However, ECB officials underlined that an extended slowdown and slower inflation convergence require a prolonged accommodation supporting credit markets. The reporting season started positively for Investment Grade except for some cyclical segments whereas High Yield issuers posted mixed results so far. In this environment High Yield spreads underperformed while subordinated bonds performed strongly. Overall the Investment Grade market tightened by 9bps while High Yield spreads increased by 19bps over the course of the month.

During the month, interest rates increased. 10yr German Bund yields rose from -0.57% to -0.40%. As a result, absolute returns for government bonds were negative with -1.07%, and also for IG Corporates the positive return impact from spread tightening was more than offset by the increase in interest rates resulting in an absolute performance of -0.23%. High Yield returned -0.22% due to the overall increase in spreads. In contrast to that, subordinated bonds from both corporate as well as financial issuers benefited from the strong market sentiment for these segments.

Due to an increasing number of idiosyncratic events in the High Yield market, we further reduced High Yield investments while we also took profit in government bonds. On the other hand, we partially re-invested the cash in Investment Grade Senior bonds participating in several new issues. Overall, the cash position was increased over the course of the month.

In addition to a strong performance of the subordinated bond segment, the fund also benefited from reducing portfolio duration to below 3 years over the course of the month.
